Plans a Line to the South.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

PORTLAND, Ind., June 28.—At 8:30 o'clock to-night the jury in the James W. Ertel murder trial had not agreed on a verdict and was discharged, having been out since early Friday afternoon. It was rumored that they stood eight to four for conviction, but this could not be verified.

New instructions were asked late this afternoon and the foreman told the court that it was hardly expected they would reach an agreement. George Hartup and Thomas Whipple were both sick during the day and a doctor had been called to attend them. Judge Smith deemed it futile to keep the jury together any longer. The defendant was in court and was remanded to jail until the next term, which will begin in September.

They Excite the Ire of the Union Labor Council at Marion.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

MARION, Ind., June 28.—The publishers of two of the Marion daily newspapers have become embroiled in a quarrel with the Union Labor Council here. The Trades Council has threatened to call out the forces of the News-Tribune and Chronicle.

The Employers' Council is a strong organization recently formed by the employers of the city. Nearly all the substantial concerns are represented. The membership is over 30. The proprietors of the two principal newspapers are said to belong to the association. These employers have no objection to unions, but believe that they should be allowed to pay their men what they think each is worth. The association recently published in the News-Tribune and Chronicle a letter setting forth its views. The American Flint Glass Workers' Union presented a letter in reply, but the editors of the two papers refused to publish it. The members of the Trades Council now say that they will call a strike on the papers if the editors do not publish the communication.

"I do not believe I would repeat the trip for $50 every fifty miles," said he to-day. Yesterday the pony showed fatigue for the first time, and his rider intended to rest it to-morrow. But this morning the pony seemed as "good" as when he left Kit Carson and, notwithstanding a heavy rain in the morning, Jacobs rode east on the National road. His longest day's ride was seventy miles.

Cook, of Chicago, has filed a suit in the United States Circuit Court, district of Indiana, against the Sterling electric works of this city, an institution of which Mr. Cook, the plaintiff, was formerly president, asking it to enjoin the Sterling Company from issuing advertising circulars and claims to the effect that the company is the sole owner of rights which the plaintiff holds, or has held, in any telephone patents. The suit is the culmination of trouble that has been brewing for several months, beginning when Mr. Cook, the patentee of many of the applicable patents, was by the Sterling works, left the company and later brought suit for damages against the directors. CLINTON, Ind., June 28.—The work of prospecting for deep coal has begun at Clinton. Most of the mines in this district are in what is known as the upper vein, about one hundred feet deep. A few of the mines are working a second vein, nearly one hundred feet deeper. The upper vein is from four and one-half to five feet thick, and the second is about a foot thicker, but is more mixed with sulphur rock and other impurities. There is a rumor or tradition that a third vein, thicker and better than the second, exists at a depth of 50 to 60 feet. Some of the coal men credit the rumor and the question of a third vein will soon be settled. A company that recently purchased 40 acres of

FEARS OF JAPANESE.

United States May Protect Its Tea Industries with a Tariff Wall.

TOKIO, June 11, via San Francisco, June 28.—An important meeting of tea merchants throughout Japan was held at Yokohama, Japan, early in June, about 200 being in attendance. Among those present were Mr. Hirata, minister of agriculture and commerce, and Baron Komura, minister for foreign affairs.

Baron Komura delivered an address, in which he said: "America is the best customer of the tea world. Three-quarters of the total production of tea in the world is consumed in the United States. Despite this fact Japan's tea trade with America appears to have made no progress during the last few years. Ten years ago Japan exported to America tea valued at $2,000,000 yen in value, which is also the case at present, though the population of America has increased and the demand for tea has increased. The Russians are great tea consumers, and if the Japanese pay attention to the tea trade they will become a good customer of Japan tea."

Mr. Okuma, chairman of the Central Tea Guild, said that the tea prospects for Japan tea in the United States are by no means reassuring, as the tea plant in the South Carolina and Georgia states has made remarkable progress of late.
